2nd March 2025 – Eight Sunday in Ordinary Time

A Thought... These past two weeks the world has watched, and prayed, as Pope Francis has been in hospital. As I write this the word is that his condition remains critical but that there have been some small improvements. It is difficult to watch anyone being sick and although most of us have not met or known the Pope personally such is his role in our faith that we are close to him. All Catholics are united by our bond to the Pope as the successor to St Peter. It is a good thing to have this unity in him. It brings us together and offers us a clear voice of the deposit of our faith. We continue to pray for him and for all that his immense life of service in our Church represents - may the Lord who called him sustain him. Fr Dermot
